Training Services
At Business

Training Services At Business

MasterSkills offers a service package that includes consulting, evaluation and training services developed by our training experts and tailored to businesses, specifically below.

Survey

Learning - Surveying is a part of our training service process which usually takes place through face-to-face consultations at the factory or corporate office.

At this step, we work directly with the factory management board, to determine compliance status and other issues, as well as establish facilities for improvement, and monitor the process step by step. Implement improvement plan.

Consulting begins with a special exchange and guidance program conducted by experienced consultants and trainers.

Training

Our management and leadership (Softskills) training courses are for all employees, factory managers, and office staff.

All above, are intended to support and strengthen the initial consultation through detailed guidance on how to solve problems and improve relationships, supplement knowledge and strengthen skills and competencies in the workplace.

Assessment

After training we provide a comprehensive evaluation program to determine the overall improvement level of each business.

The evaluation results are combined with the self-diagnosis of each business about the difficulties they are facing, in order to provide an honest and comprehensive picture of success, as well as typical progress to find out what needs to be fixed.
